£320,000 bid to get drivers out of their cars

DRIVERS are being urged to swap four wheels for two and ditch petrol for pedal power to ease congestion and pollution across the borough.

Transport for London has awarded Haringey Council £320,500 to spend over the next three years to make cycling in Haringey a more attractive prospect. Measures will include more secure bike-parking facilities, training drivers in cycle awareness, providing cycling training and improving roads and cycle lanes.

Councillor Nilgun Canver, cabinet member for environment, said the council needed a strategy to address the problem of congestion.

"Haringey's road space cannot meet the demands of the future so the borough's transport policy must be radical and have car traffic reduction at its heart," she said.

"Cycling is one way of cutting congestion, personal travel costs and carbon emissions.

"We have to make the roads more amenable to cyclists, and are working with Haringey Cycling Club to make sure this money is used to improve safety and security measures for cyclists."

In the next three years, more than £270,000 will be spent on improving safety for cyclists, while almost £19,500 will go to the Bikeability cycle group to provide training for children.

One massive overhaul of safety improvement along Carlton Road, Parkland Road, High Road in Wood Green, High Street in Hornsey and Westbury Avenue underpass will cost £190,000 on its own.

A separate study is being used to improve cyclist and pedestrian safety at an accident hotspot in Lordship Lane, the site of 101 recorded personal injury accidents in three years.

Ms Canver added: "We are looking carefully at the junction to develop a solution that improves safety. We would also expect it to reduce congestion and pollution locally. We will also look at other accident hotspots to see if any engineering measures might be used to address common causes."

Euromillions 'winner' loses his £183,908

ONE lucky Euromillions ticket holder in Haringey proved to be not so lucky after all, when their unclaimed prize of nearly £200,000 was donated to charity.

The National Lottery announced that the £183,908 Euromillions prize from its January 28 draw had not been claimed within its six-month deadline, so the life-changing sum has now been passed to charity.

The ticket holder, who matched five main numbers and one lucky star, bought their ticket from an undisclosed outlet within the borough of Haringey, but had failed to claim their prize by the deadline of 5.30pm last Wednesday.

A National Lottery spokesman said: "We tried very hard to find the ticket holder and it's a real shame that they have missed out, but there is still one winner – the nation. "This money, and all the interest earned on it over the past 180 days, will now be given to the National Lottery good causes."

More depression and stress is the price for us all working longer

By Shahnaz Ford

LONGER working lives and longer hours will cause more stress and depression among the nation's workforce, a leading mental health doctor has warned.

Dr Martin Lindsay, a GP at Somerset Gardens Family Health Care Centre in Tottenham, says the 2011 Pensions Bill, which increased the state retirement age to 66 from 2020, will put more pressure on employees and see a rise in the numbers of people suffering mental health conditions such as depression and stress.

Dr Lindsay said: "An unspoken implication is that many employers will expect their staff to work longer and harder with the spectre of unemployment looming in the background.

"We are seeing the knock-on effect of that every day through increased anxiety, depression, stress, high blood pressure and alcohol and drug problems.

"It also impacts on the family as, more and more often, both parents have to work, leaving less time for children. It's not a criticism of parents who are forced to work for financial reasons but it is a concern."

The World Bank says the main cause of ill health in adults aged 19-45 in the developed world, is depression – and that 20 per cent of those affected do not recover, while those that do are likely to have at least one relapse.

Dr Lindsay, who specialises in mental health, says depression is probably the most common reason for patients to see their GPs.

He added: "In our increasingly busy lives, it is worth stepping back and realising that our most valuable possession is physical and mental health well-being.

"It may sound like a cliché, but the vast majority of us really don't understand that until something goes wrong."

Dr Lindsay advised anyone concerned they may be suffering from anxiety, depression or stress to contact their GP or email the Improved Access To Physiological Therapies team at LAPT@haringey.nhs.uk

Stark warning: Dr Martin Lindsay fears working longer will increase stress and depression

Cameras and £100 fines to beat dumpers

A COUNCIL tenant has been fined £100 for dumping rubbish bags in a communal area.

The resident, of Tiverton Road, South Tottenham, is the first to be served a fixed penalty notice under Section 26 of the 1990 Environmental Protection Act. The £100 spot-fine follows a series of complaints that residents were leaving full bin bags piled next to rubbish chutes.

Councillor Nilgun Canver, cabinet member for the environment, said: "It is unbelievable that people will leave rubbish lying around when they can easily dispose of it in the chute. We have warned residents that if they do not use the correct methods to dispose of rubbish they will be fined on the spot."

The action marks the start of a pilot project to tackle illegal rubbish dumping in Tiverton Road and Blenheim Rise, South Tottenham. The project is led by Homes For Haringey in partnership with Haringey Council's Anti-social Behaviour and Street Enforcement teams.

Warning leaflets were issued and CCTV cameras have been installed in communal areas, with the footage being used to identify and prosecute perpetrators.

Cometh The Hour as town hall takes centre stage on TV

HORNSEY Town Hall has become an unlikely television star once again – as the setting for the BBC's latest flagship period drama, The Hour.

Abi Morgan's six-part prime-time series about a 1950s' TV newsroom was filmed in its entirety at the Grade II-listed civic building.

Starring Dominic West, of The Wire fame, and Romola Garai, The Hour recreates life behind the scenes of a news studio divided by office politics.

The Hour has been hailed by

By
Rachel Schraer

reviewers as a "British Mad Men" – complete with iconic pristine period fashion – and has the red lipstick to prove it.

As a listed building, no structural changes could be made to Hornsey Town Hall, requiring the need for much ingenuity on the part of the set designers.

"We had to work with the building, not try to change it," said producer Ruth Kenley-Letts, who has been a resident of Crouch End herself for 20 years.

"We didn't change a single door handle – all the original features were used, from the marble, benches, clocks and light fittings, to the original council meeting room."

Lead director Coky Giedroyc and Eve Stewart, an Oscar nominee for her production design on The King's Speech, also fell in love with the Haringey landmark at first sight and said "this is it!"

The building's stylish art-deco features, including ornate staircases, and a large theatre space were used to great effect to create a television set, along with corridors and a newsroom.

"The space allowed us to realise our vision for the entire set within the budget," said Ruth.

Despite being home to some big names, the production office had less trouble from screaming fans than from residents looking for benefits forms or to pay parking tickets.

"Some took a lot of convincing that we weren't the housing benefits office," laughed Ruth.

Playing at home: The cast of The Hours on set at Hornsey Town Hall

There is a fitting continuity to The Hour's use of Hornsey Town Hall. Just up the road of course is Alexandra Palace, home to the BBC's first ever news transmission.

This real piece of broadcasting history provided valuable insight for The Hour's recreation of a 1950s newsroom.

Curators at the palace museum helped the production team to recreate Ally Pally's television set in the town hall basement with proper accuracy and respect.

"The site's facility manager, Lorraine Sparks, knew the building as a child and remembers going to shows there with her grandmother," said Ruth. "I know that if she didn't feel the crew would respect the building she wouldn't let the project go ahead."

The hall has an illustrious history in the arts. Designed by Reginald Urin in 1935, it played host to rock band Queen's first concert in 1971 and has some impressive TV and film credentials, from Armando Iannucci's political satire In The Loop to the opening of Britcom Peep Show.

The town hall even made a Hollywood appearance as the lobby of a Chicago office in the film Derailed, starring Friends' star Jennifer Aniston.

A second series of The Hour is scheduled for filming but is likely to be the town hall's last hurrah in TV but not the arts.

Haringey Council and Hornsey Town Hall Creative Trust are due to sign the building over to Mountview Academy of Theatre Arts. The academy aim to move into the premises in 2014 following a £19million restoration project.

"This is excellent news," said Mountview Academy chairman Sandy Orr.

"A cultural regeneration project of this scale will bring investment, vitality and opportunity to the borough, building on Mountview's successful track record."

"It places Mountview back at the heart of Crouch End – from where it can expand its already successful programme of community engagement, reaching out to all parts of the locality."

Having played host to so much acting, directing and musical talent over the years, it seems appropriate that Hornsey Town Hall will be transformed into an academy to train new talent, and produce the actors and directors of the future.

□ The Hour is on BBC2 every Tuesday night at 9pm.

Star turn: Hornsey Town Hall's 1950s style is a perfect fit

Three work out plan for cheap gym

With no swimming pools, saunas or steam rooms, easyGym focuses on providing the latest gym equipment.

Mr Paul Lorimer-Wing said: "Through easyGym, Wood Green residents can now benefit from state-of-the-art equipment and rates which are a fraction of the price of those at traditional gyms."

POLICE are responding to community concerns with a crackdown on dangerous dogs in the area.

Bruce Grove and Seven Sisters Safer Neighbourhood teams have joined forces since January in a bid to remove dogs that pose a threat to the community. Their work has resulted in 15 dog seizures so far.

On July 22 officers carried out search warrants under the Dangerous Dogs Act and the Misuse of Drugs Act at a flat in South Tottenham in Seven Sisters ward. The officers forced entry into the flat to carry out warrants in response to concerns about activity at the address. Neighbours had previously made complaints about noise, the smell of cannabis, and people coming and going day and night.

The officers subsequently seized two pitbull-type dogs and a quantity of a substance suspected to be cannabis.

A 25-year-old man was arrested on the premises on suspicion of possession of dangerous dogs and possession of class B drugs. He has since been bailed to return to a North

Police crackdown after concerns over dangerous dogs

London police station on September 2 pending further enquiries.

The Safer Neighbourhood teams have also been involved in educating the community.

Sergeant Matthew Casey, of Bruce Grove SNT, said: "We need to encourage as many people as possible to report irresponsible and dangerous dog ownership to us. We investigate all sightings of suspected prohibited breeds and reports of irresponsible dog ownership."

Anyone with information about prohibited or out-of-control dogs in Haringey should contact Bruce Grove Safer Neighbourhood team in confidence on 07920 233 789.

Appeal after rape attempt is reported

POLICE are appealing for witnesses and information following an attempted rape in Crouch End.

A 22-year-old woman was walking along Ferme Park Road, near Ossian Road, between 12.30am and 1.20am when a man grabbed her and forced her into the front seat of a parked vehicle.

The suspect exposed himself and tried to pull down the woman's leggings before she struggled free and ran off.

The man, in his mid-thirties, was dressed in dark clothing, had dark hair, olive-coloured skin, stubble on his face, was of stocky build and spoke with a foreign accent.

The car is described as a dark four-door saloon.

Anyone with information is asked to contact DC Troy de Barry, of the Met Police Sapphire unit, on 020 8345 4512 or call Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Brighter streets ahead

RESIDENTS can look forward to brighter nights with 5,000 high-intensity street lamps. Haringey Council will be installing extra-bright and longer-lasting lights, replacing the duller and less efficient street lamps.

The replacement programme will be completed by September. The areas covered will be South Tottenham, White Hart Lane (N17), Seven Sisters, Tower Gardens, Noel Park, Hornsey (part), Crouch End (part) and the Dukes Avenue area.

Nilgun Canver, cabinet member for environment, said: "On very cold nights up to 40 of the old bulbs would fail. Hopefully we will see fewer winter light failures and brighter streets."

Hit-and-run kills biker

A MOTORCYCLIST has died after a hit-and-run accident in Tottenham.

Police responded to reports of a collision between a van and a motorcyclist in Broad Lane at 9.20am last Tuesday. Ambulances were also called but the 46-year-old man was pronounced dead about half an hour later. The driver, of what is believed to be a white Volvo van, failed to stop at the scene. Police arrested a suspect who has been bailed until November.

Anyone with information should call 020 8597 4874.

Man in hospital after street stabbing

A 30-YEAR-OLD MAN is recovering in hospital after being stabbed during an attempted mugging.

The victim was attacked last Tuesday as he was walking along Bounds Green Road. He was approached by a man who demanded to know the contents of his bag. After showing him, the victim was stabbed repeatedly by his attacker, who made off when members of the public intervened.

The victim was taken to a London hospital where he remains in a stable condition.

His assailant is described as being a black man, in his thirties, about 5ft 10in tall, with short black hair, and wearing a red jacket and dark trousers.

Anyone with information is asked to contact DC Barry O'Rourke of Haringey CID on 020 8345 0872 or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Film comes to life

Super 8 (12A)

Director: JJ Abrams
Starring: Elle Fanning, Kyle
Chandler, Joel Courtney

AT first glance, Super 8 smacks of the "summer-monster-alien-block-buster-at-a-drive-in" genre.

But behind its graphic, comic-book facade is a chilling re-imagining of the Frankenstein narrative, set in the panic years of the Cold War.

The title comes from the rolls of film (known as super eights) used by the 13-year-old heroes, who set out to make a zombie movie for a school film festival.

This slightly geeky, movie buff detail is classic of director JJ Abrams, whose 2008 film Cloverfield was the exact length of a camcorder DV tape.

But life begins to mimic film when the kids sneak out to shoot a scene for their movie about a terrorised town. They witness a huge train crash which sets a strange chain of events in motion, and only the young film-makers seem alert to the dark forces terrorising their own town. As they try to discover what's really going on, they become entangled in a much deeper conspiracy.

Super 8 constantly straddles the line between formulaic and pioneering. Seen through the children's lens, there is a striking parallel between their film and the events going on around them, which adds real depth to their relationships.

Super charged: An action movie but with an emotional depth

Abrams skillfully manages this balance, maintaining the audience's interest in why military personnel are swarming the small town and what exactly the train's unusual cargo is. He does this without diluting our compassion for the all-too-human characters and their idiosyncrasies.

There are some accomplished performances, especially from the young actors Elle Fanning and Joel Courtney.

While Super 8 has more than enough explosions and graphic effects to keep any action fan satisfied, Abrams' direction and cast brought emotional depth and interest to a tried-and-tested plot line.

Now Showing...

Captain America: The First Avenger (12)

The comic book hero tears strips off the opposition in a witty, exciting action adventure set in World War Two. Director Joe Johnston shows exactly how to pace a big-budget movie.

Beginners (15)

Ewan McGregor plays Oliver who is working his way through the double-whammy of a lately departed father and the revelation his dad was gay. He meets a quirky French actress and we head into romantic comedy territory but with a dark, serrated edge.

Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows: Part 2 (12A)

A fitting finale. Fantastic fight scenes, gripping plot, three-dimensional characters, an edge of darkness and crucial moments of stillness for that necessary reflection. The boy wizard has certainly grown-up.

Trust (15)

Annie starts chatting to her self-proclaimed soulmate online. But he keeps lying to her about his age, and when she meets him we realise this seeming high-school drama is about something much darker.

www.habibishisha.co.uk

THE Black Horse pub might not sound like the place to experience a taste of Egypt, but don't be put off. Once you step out into the back yard, your surroundings undergo an exotic transformation into Habibi Shisha.

Twelve wooden huts of all shapes and sizes, draped with colourful fabrics, have been constructed in the spacious garden. Go on a Friday or Saturday evening, in particular, and you'll find it lit up with Egyptian music and belly dancing.

One of the main attractions is, of course, the shisha pipes, and here the "head" inside is made from fresh fruit. As shisha becomes increasingly fashionable in London, it is vital for Adam Habibi, in charge of the shisha lounge, to make this place stand out from all the others. He offers 25 different flavours of non-alcoholic shisha including vanilla or coconut, as well as blends such as honey and cinnamon.

But, as a native Egyptian, what is most important to him is the authenticity of the environment. All furniture, fabric and pipes have been imported from Egypt to give a truly accurate portrait of the culture. Adam's intention is to create somewhere that people can feel as though they are on holiday, without having to part with a fortune.

"This is my culture," he said. "I want to represent it in the right way, so it's important to me to get the best shisha ingredients as well as the music, the colour and the huts."

"Where other shisha places are just thinking of the money and the business, I really want people to enjoy my culture."

Open only a few months, the concept has already attracted customers from all over London, with an impressive 350 people flooding the opening night.

As an addition to a pub that's been open for 19 years, the whole experience is an interesting blend of two

Smoking: Huts in the pub's back yard create an authentic setting conventions. The cuisine, provided by the pub, comprises mainly British favourites such as lamb cutlets (£7.99) or fish and chips (£4.99). These can all be enjoyed in the garden and, as well as being fresh and tasty, are well presented. If, however, you really want to embrace the culture, Friday and Saturday evenings offer a barbecue for £5 which includes chicken shish, kebabs and spicy chicken wings.

Pub landlady Ishil Bursuk hoped that by joining businesses with their family friend they would encourage more female customers to the pub, and said it is fast becoming a success.

Indeed, this exclusive juxtaposition of Britain and Egypt is very appealing for all those wanting to experience something a bit different.

CROUCH IS FULL OF CONFIDENCE

By Dominique Stafford

PETER CROUCH is looking forward to putting a difficult campaign behind him and playing a major role for Tottenham Hotspur when the new Premier League season gets under way later this month.

Despite performing well in Europe, Crouch – along with the remainder of Spurs' forward line – struggled to make an impact domestically last time around and scored only four goals in the league.

But the England international, who netted twice in a pre-season friendly at Leyton Orient on Friday night, insists he is full of confidence and is eagerly anticipating the big kick-off.

"It's important as a striker to score goals," he said. "You want to get off to a flyer and hit the ground running when the season starts."

"It was important to get 90 minutes playing time in against Orient, but if you can score a couple of goals that brings a lot of confidence."

"Most of the lads have eased their way in to the pre-season friendlies. I can only speak for myself and I feel good, I feel fit and I'm looking forward to the season starting."

Meanwhile, manager Harry Redknapp has admitted that Spurs face an uphill battle in their bid to regain their place in the Premier League's top four.

Having finished fourth in 2010 to secure Champions League qualification, the side could only come sixth last time around and the manager believes that Tottenham's inability to compete with the wages paid by the likes of Manchester City will make it even harder for them to break into the elite.

"Wages have gone crazy," he said. "It's gone beyond belief and made it really hard to compete for top players. If you want to be a top-four side, it's difficult because we can't pay those kind of wages."

"Our chairman Daniel Levy runs the club well and we get 36,000 fans, but how do you compete with the Manchester City of this world?"

Home run ends as Skolars lose to table-toppers

THE challenge of taking on runaway leaders Swinton Lions proved far too much for the London Skolars on Saturday as they slumped to a 42-14 defeat at New River Stadium in rugby league's Co-Operative Championship One.

The Skolars went into the clash on the back of a four-game winning streak at home – a club record in the professional era – but that run came to an abrupt halt as they were comprehensively beaten to finally banish any lingering hopes they had of making it into the end-of-season play-offs.

The table-topping visitors took the lead in just the second minute through a Lee Wingfield try, but the Skolars responded well and were rewarded for a sustained spell of pressure with a Lamont Bryan try on 19 minutes.

However, the hosts failed to score again in the first half and further tries from Martin Ainscough and Andy Gorski helped Swinton to open up an 18-4 lead by the interval.

A breakaway try from Jermaine Coleman, converted by Dylan Skee, moments after the restart saw the Skolars reduce their deficit, but the visitors then cut loose with Gavin Dodd, Dale Cunniffe, Danny Meekin and Ian Mort all crossing the line in a 15-minute spell before Austen Aggrey grabbed a consolation try for the hosts.

The London Skolars visit the South Wales Scorpions on Saturday.
